

Marlton, NJ - Today, Congressman John Adler (NJ-03) announced the appointment of Mary Campbell to serve as his Economic Recovery Coordinator. The new position was created to assist constituents and small businesses take advantage of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act [H.R. 1] and other programs that foster economic development. Campbell also will continue to work as Adler's Director of Outreach. She works out of Adler's Marlton and Toms River offices.

"My office is committed to provide prompt assistance to the residents of the district," said Adler. "Building on this commitment, I have designated Mary Campbell to serve as my Economic Recovery Coordinator. Mary is a bright, hardworking member of my staff. She will serve as a resource for those businesses and constituents who are looking for opportunities to help move our economy forward."

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act provide unprecedented tax relief for middle class families and small businesses. It also made targeted investments to encourage the economic recovery and set the stage for future growth. The Economic Recovery Coordinator will serve as the first point of contact for economic recovery programs and will provide information to help constituents, businesses and local governments take advantage of these initiatives.

Groups like the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the AARP, and the VFW have all praised Adler for his work and his vote in favor of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.
